Y. M. C. A. Navy Yard Hut to Be Beneficiary of Entertainment Given on Friday, March 1, at Mannheim—Cap and Bells Club Gives Concert

OF COURSE, everybody has heard of the concert and dance which Mrs. Lawrence B. Mellor is getting up for the benefit of the Navy Yard Y. M. C. A. hut. It is to be given on Friday evening, March 1, in the ballroom of the Germantown Cricket Club at Mannheim and virtually everybody in Germantown and Chestnut Hill, besides a great many Philadelphians, will be there.

The Cap and Bells Club of Haverford College will give a concert the first part of the evening, which will be followed by dancing from 9:30 until 1 o'clock. A great many dinners are being planned to be given at the club before the dance, so that it promises to be quite some party and at the same time will add a splendid cause.

The committee assisting Mrs. Mellor includes Margaret La Rue, Marguerite Ruth, Hazel Coffin, Dorothy Dismore, Ruth Eisenhower, Josephine Fernley, Helen Pittfield, Esther Jones, Freda Gillespie, Frances Heppie, Martha Hyslop, Elise Beck, Burrell Luth, Lucile Morris, Helen Leuz, Margaret H. Mellor, Katharine B. Smith, Emelyn Shipley, Margaretta Shipley, Ann Strawbridge, Alice Tatnall, Mary Toogood, Elizabeth Van Dusen, Eleanor Wunder, Alice E. Dillenbeck, Genevieve Dillenbeck, William K. Beard, 3d, view Dillenbeck, John C. Hogan, John Milton P. Barba, John C. Hogan, John Clayton, Frank Deacon, Branson Edw. Potter, Darrow, Reginald Griffin, William Henry, George A. Haas, William John P. Keller, John D. McMillan, John P. Russell, Robinson, Ioss B. Simpson, Granville Toogood, Runcie Tatnall, Henry Wiener, Woodstock C. Webster, Harrison Williams and John H. Laws, Jr.

The patronesses are Mrs. C. Ardley Winkler, Mrs. Warner P. Earnshaw, Mrs. Albert E. Lea, Mrs. Maurice Burton, Mrs. Frederic Strawbridge, Mrs. William F. Tatnall, Mrs. George Thacker, Mrs. John Edwards, Mrs. E. E. Denniston, Mrs. H. M. Coffin, Mrs. Alfred Mellor, Mrs. Carl Williams, Mrs. A. Lincoln Gillespie, Mrs. Henry Wood, Mrs. Ernest T. Toogood, Mrs. Walter C. Shipley, Mrs. Samuel A. Tatnall, Mrs. Ralph Mellor, Mrs. Herbert O'Connell, Mrs. George L. Garrett, Mrs. William H. Eisenhower, Mrs. Walter Lee Smith, Mrs. John C. Bogan and Mrs. Harry Lawson.

THE SEEMS that there was a last-minute—rather next-to-last-minute—change in the plans of the Red Cross Auxiliary No. 276 on Thursday, and Colonel St. George Steele, of the British recruiting office, did not speak at the workrooms after all. The Colonel was scheduled to speak at a luncheon that day and the committee in charge of the Independence Square Red Cross thought it would be more courteous to wait until next week for him rather than have him rush through his luncheon engagement, and instead of the address being an accomplished fact it is still a pleasure to which we may look forward next Thursday.

IRISH PLAYERS OF PHILADELPHIA Will Present Play for Church

The Irish Players of Philadelphia presented their latest dramatic offering, "Hearts of Erin," in St. Thomas Aquinas' Hall, Eighteenth street above Morris, on Thursday evening and repeated it last night. A pretty wedding took place this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Miss Reta Conolly, daughter of Mrs. F. J. Conolly, of West Point and Brooklyn, was married to Mr. John J. Gallagher, of Germantown. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Edward D. Conolly, and was attended by her sister, Mrs. Cleveland C. Conolly, wife of Major C. C. Conolly, U. S. A., associate professor of mathematics at the United States Military Academy, West Point, as matron of honor. The best man was Mr. Frank J. Hanson, of Germantown. The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John Woods, of Brooklyn. Following the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride's mother, 61 Pennmore street, Brooklyn, for the immediate members of both families. After an extended wedding tour through the South, the young couple will be in Philadelphia, where they will be widely known newspaper men of this city.

THE HAWTHORNE PUPILS Do Red Cross Work

The older pupils of the Hawthorne School, at Twelfth and Fitzwater streets, of which Miss Arnold is principal, have been enthusiastically working for the Red Cross for the last few months. Miss Tachon has been teaching the classes in knitting and dressings.

At present all the students are interested in the sale of thirty stamps, and Miss Bendall's class has the record to date. Elizabeth Changelio and Mr. Badano are among the leaders in the campaign.

A pretty home wedding took place on Tuesday at 6 o'clock, when Miss Ida Augusta Barber became the bride of Mr. James M. Duffy. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. William Caldwell, assisted by the Rev. Aquila Webb, D. D., took place at the home of the bride's grandmother, 61 Pennmore street, with whom she has lived.

Miss Barber wore a gown of white duchesse satin trimmed with silver lace. Her tulle veil, which was arranged in a coronet and held in place by a silver band, fell to the end of her long train. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her brother, Sergeant C. Barber, of the United States Ambulance Service, who obtained leave of absence from camp for the ceremony. The bridegroom had his brother, Mr. Edward Norman Duffy, as best man. Miss Helen Cornell Sterling, of Swarthmore, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a frock of white net over flesh-colored silk and carried a basket of sweet peas.

Miss Louise Parvin Carwithin and Miss Nona E. Carwithin, of Merion, also consist of the bride, were the ribbon-bearers. They wore white dresses, hand-embroidered and trimmed with pink ribbon rosettes.

After the ceremony a small reception followed for the intimate friends. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Lester T. Duryea, Miss Duryea and Miss Estenschied, of New York.

"MEDICAL MISSIONARY" TO ADDRESS MEETING

Interesting Talk Promised for Auxiliary of All Hallows' Church in Wyncote

Dr. Mary James will address the Auxiliary of All Hallows' Church, Wyncote, in the Parish House at 11:30 o'clock on Monday, Feb. 12, at the Medical Missionary Society. Dr. James is from the Memorial Hospital at Wanchang, China. Her father, Mr. Fleming James, was a former rector of All Hallows' Church, and her brother, the Rev. Fleming James, has a charge at Englewood, N. J. She is a graduate of the Woman's College Hospital, and is now in this country taking a course at the University to perfect herself in the study of tropical diseases.

Mr. Elwood W. Miller, of Jenkintown, has received a commission as lieutenant in the Supply Division of the Ordnance Department and will report on Monday.

Mrs. Frank P. Webb, of Jenkintown, and Mrs. William Altman, chairman, of Wyncote, left today for Atlantic City.

HOFMANN IN GREAT MOOD

Brilliant Polish Pianist Electrifies Auditors at Philadelphia Orchestra's Matinee Concert

Josef Hofmann, in his most masterful mood, conquered the emotions and thrilled the senses of yesterday's large audience at the Philadelphia Orchestra's concert in the Academy. In the highly effective tonalistic concerto in D minor of his own invention, Schubert, the superb Polish pianist thundered through the stormy passages of the last movement in an exhibition of sheer power, electrifying even those familiar with the work in its most inspired moments.

In striking contrast had been the delicate romanticism of the audience, dignified with the gracious spirit of lyric poetry and untouched by sentimentality, while a display of crystalline technique, less emotionally employed, had characterized the melodious opening. No more eloquent piano playing has been heard in Philadelphia this season than that which Mr. Hofmann demonstrated through the might of his wonderful virtuosity and keen interpretative gift.

The concerto itself is undeniably showy, but its psychotechnics are unforced, appropriately introduced and the tunefulness of its intriguing themes betrays sound and flowing musical inspiration. The soloist was vociferously applauded, and deservedly.

Mr. Hofmann's program was tastefully composed. The charming overture to "The Bartered Bride," that delicious little opera, so unaccountably dropped from the repertoire nowadays, was buoyantly and sparklingly played. The symphonic offering was Cesar Franck's timely and poetic work in D minor, played by the conductor with scrupulous clarity though perhaps a shade too much sentimentally, especially in the lovely and haunting second movement. The "Tristan" prelude and finale, fervidly interpreted, closed an admirable concert. In the brief pause between the two parts of this number, coughing in the auditorium palpably annoyed the conductor, who turned around and, with the air of a man who has just been caught, he looked at the audience. The same gesture was also noticeable on the part of Mrs. Stokowski, who was occupying a proscenium box. The "swat" between the conductor and the "Love-death" between the orchestra and the audience was thus extended slightly longer than is called for in the arrangement of the Wagnerian excerpts.

It may be added that the "Tristan" selection provoked, notwithstanding the weather, evidence indeed of sufficient favor to warrant the presentation of the "Nibelungen" program, now indefinitely postponed. This all-Wagner concert was to have been given at the orchestra's next performances here on February 22 and 23. The present plans, announced in yesterday's program book, are for a mixed concert without the distinctive and exclusive tribute to the great composer.

Roscommon Society Holds Annual Reception

The sixth annual reception of the Roscommon Society, which took place last evening in Eagles' Temple, had a decidedly patriotic aspect.

The ballroom was artistically decorated in greens, trimmed with the national colors of America and old "Erin."

At the conclusion of the grand march, which was led by Mr. and Mrs. Christopher J. Watson, a silent American flag was unfurled. Mr. P. P. Conway made the address.
